Diamondhead mayor accused of assaulting POA president

Attorney says there's 'no substance' to allegations

BY GEOFF BELCHER NEWS EDITOR

The president of the Diamondhead Property Owners Association on Monday filed simple assault charges against the city's mayor in municipal court.

POA President Robert Clark Marthouse, II, alleged in the complaint that Mayor Thomas E. "Tommy" Schafer, IV, "did purposely, knowingly and unlawfully cause bodily injury" to Marthouse by pushing him, "knocking him down causing him to fall over chairs, landing on the ground back first," according to the affidavit.

The incident allegedly took place on Sept. 4, when Marthouse, Schafer and other members of the Community Collaborative Committee met and discussed the city and POA amenities.

"We are aware that various accounts are circulating regarding a physical altercation between Diamondhead Mayor Tommy Schaefer and POA President Bob Marthouse," according to a statement issued Monday by the POA. "The event in question occurred during an official city/POA meeting known as the Community Collaborative. This turn of events saddens us. This incident occurs at the most critical time in our community where we all need to pull together. With regard to the incident details, President Marthouse and the individuals who witnessed the event have made their statements to law enforcement. We will now allow the justice system to do its job.

"President Marthouse optimistically notes that 'The Community Collaborative has been highly successful in developing real teamwork and in addressing our shared issues. Based on our ongoing discussions with the

Off-duty officer jailed after domestic dispute

SEA COAST ECHO

Hancock County sheriff's deputies on Saturday arrested one of their own after an alleged domestic disturbance led to gun-play.

"On the evening of Sept. 7, the Hancock County Sheriff's Office was dispatched to a residence on Road 228 in reference to a domestic disturbance," according to a press release issued Sunday by Chief Deputy Jeremy Skinner. "Upon arrival, it was quickly determined the disturbance involved an off-duty Hancock County sheriff's deputy assigned to the Diamondhead Division. The domestic violence investigator was called to the scene to investigate the incident.

"During the investigation, statements made by the victim, the defendant, and a third-party witness were consistent in saying that during the dispute, a 'warning shot' was discharged by the defendant and not in the direction of the victim or the witness. Based on the consistent statements made to responding deputies and the domestic violence investigator, by the three involved parties that were present at the time of the incident, it was determined that all elements of the incident met the criteria to support a charge for

Our Lady Academy continues mentoring plan

SEA COAST ECHO

Big Sister –Little Sister is a mentoring program between the senior and freshman classes that was started in 1976 at Our Lady Academy.

The senior "Class of 2020" of OLA continued the Big Sister-Little Sister tradition during a special prayer service at Our Lady of the Gulf Church this past Friday.

Days before the special prayer service, the seniors, maintaining their anonymity, left ornamental gifts in their little sisters' lockers for them to wear on the unveiling day. The gifts were used as clues to their big sister identity. The following day, the unveiling ceremony was held in the gym, where seniors wrapped themselves in wrapping paper and attached a gift tag, identifying their little sister's name. Freshman anxiously searched for their name and unwrapped their big sister, to reveal their identity.

During the prayer service, the tradition of lighting a candle, or the passing of the torch, was passed on to their little sisters. This mentorship gives the ninth graders a sense of empowerment, community, and pride.

Freshman, Caroline Maillho commented, "Of all the traditions at OLA, this is, of course, my favorite! What an awesome way to begin my freshman year - having a big sister help me navigate through my first year of high school. I know my big sister, Paige Palazzo will be a positive influence and a wonderful role model for me."

Senior Becca Walk said, "I hope to provide my little sister, Hutton Sharp with the same moral and spiritual support that my big sister gave me three years ago, when I was a freshman. To this day, we stay in touch and I know I can reach out to her still. This is what I would hope to give my little sister this year."

Celebrating nephrology nurses

Back when I was in high school, Hancock Medical Center offered an explorers program.

It gave us a chance to explore whether we wanted to pursue a career in the medical field.

I got the opportunity to shadow X-Ray technicians, labor and delivery nurses, and much more.

However, after one fateful experience shadowing ER nurses, I decided that I was definitely not cut out for the medical field. That night, a man came in with his finger sliced open and something inside me just said, "No, this isn't for you."

But, I was grateful for the experience and it gave me a deep and lasting appreciation for those who work in the medical field.

Many years later, my dad was diagnosed with renal failure, and a new blessing was born into our lives, nephrology nurses.

This week is Nephrology Nurses Week and according to the American Nephrology Nurses Association's website, September 8-14 is set aside to "honor the dedicated nephrology nurses who care for patients with kidney disease."

For more than six years, the nurses at the Fresenius Medical Care facility in Diamondhead took the absolute best care of my dad while he was on dialysis.

I never worried about him when he was there, I knew he was in good hands.

Dialysis patients often have to have dialysis treatments three days a week for almost four hours at a time.

For my dad, I know the nurses at Fresenius became like family to him. He talked, and still talks about them all the time.

Being a nephrology nurse has to be difficult in a lot of ways. Many of their patients are waiting for transplants and that may not happen in time for some.

It's been almost six months since my dad had his transplant.

Just a few days after the surgery, the nurses from Fresenius sent him a "Happy Birthday New Kidney" card, signed by all of them.

I read all the names to him and he would mention something about each one of them. I could tell he was touched by the gesture, as was the rest of my family.

The transplant nurses at the main Ochsner Medical Center campus in New Orleans are also caring, knowledgeable about their field, and have a fierce determination to get their patients back on their feet.

I can't imagine that being a nephrology, or any type of nurse, is an easy job.

While there are moments of great sorrow and loss, there are also moments that give cause for celebration,

I have gotten to the point that every time my cellphone blasts its generic ringtone, I assume it's a robocall. My algorithm favorites are the recorded voices that start out saying, "Can you hear me?" and then pause a few seconds before continuing. I've taken to filling that brief void with a Bronx cheer or some other obnoxious sound. Then I hang up.

Sometimes, however, when I check for messages or run into a friend, he or she might say, "I tried to call you, but all I got was you making bad-taste sounds." Worse is when it's a business call or a medical provider.

That is just one illustration of the perils of advancing technologies. Artificial intelligence has taken the inefficient human beings almost entirely out of telephoning, except that it also enables nefarious humans to come up with new and different ways to steal our money; for instance, scaring the daylights out of vulnerable, trusting marks who believe that the Social Security or IRS calls they get are truly official demands for payment -- or else. Ironically, progress has equaled a step or steps backward.

So it is with anti-social media. Our gadgetry has enabled us to communicate with each other in all parts of the world. The problem is that we usually find that what we have to communicate is repugnant, or outright lies. A case in point is virtually everything a certain president of the United States shares with us in tweets.

Now it comes out that the co-founder and CEO of Twitter, Jack Dorsey, has been hacked, and for a while his account was spewing out racist mini messages and bomb threats on his monster creation. At least, he claims he was hacked.

It shouldn't be a surprise if that same certain president, at some point, insists that he was hacked, which would be plausible because it would explain the stream of ridiculous and obnoxious content sent out in his name. The only other explanation would be ignorance, hate, lying or outright insanity.

Nevertheless, one former head of state is not hiding behind identity theft. Kim Campbell, who was Canadian prime minister for a short time in the '90s, tweeted referring to Hurricane Dorian catastrophically threatening Florida: "I'm rooting for a direct hit on Mar a Lago!"

She apologized quickly and deleted her tweet, but the internet is forever. She's never been a fan of Donald Trump to begin with, so one has to question the sincerity of her apology. The internet is also brings out our worst instincts, as evidenced by the cyber-debate that raged between those who condemned Campbell and those who loved the idea that Dorian might demolish Mar-a-Lago.

I hasten to emphasize that the Dorian/Mar-a-Lago snarkiness was put out by a FORMER Canadian prime minister. The present one, Justin Trudeau, is far too busy making goo-goo eyes at Melania and Ivanka Trump.

No, there's little reason to believe that about Trudeau, other than malicious rumors, which in cyberspace are reality. If the rumors are totally made up, they are still reality. That's how it is in the cowardly new world of technology, which is spiraling out of control. I'll remember that the next time I smart off on a robocall. At least someone wants to talk to me, even if it is an automaton.

Backyard Pests (Part 2)

This is the second of a two-part piece on various backyard pests that may have taken up residence in your yard. As discussed last week, the obvious reasons that wild animals invade our spaces are due to them searching for food and/or shelter. Geckos and other lizards, opossums and snakes look for any hole to make their home.

Geckos can grow up to 4 inches long and are usually seen at night running along floors, windows, and window screens trying to catch insects. Their voice can be heard as a faint, mouse-like squeak. Skinks can be up to 6 inches long and they are often found in sheds and woodpiles and eat insects. Chameleons also eat insects. Skinks and chameleons can bite so leave them alone.

Rabbits can be a nuisance when they eat plants from the garden and flower beds. While rabbits can be hunted during specific times of year, you should make sure of these dates before trying to kill them. To keep them from entering your garden areas, fence the area by burying a 3-foot-high fence at least 6 inches deep and angle the tops outward.

Raccoons and opossums love to dig through your garbage cans in search of food. They also annoy your pets as their presence accounts for a lot of nighttime barking. To rid yourself of these pests, you should first obtain a permit to use a live trap. Bait the trap with chicken, cat food, or sardines. Once caught, place the captured animal in a cool, quiet place until you can release them into a more natural environment.

Besides the obvious reason you would want to rid yourself of skunks, they also dig in your yard and flower beds. Check on the necessity of a permit before using live traps. Once captured, you should approach the trapped animal slowly and use a long pole to cover the trap with a canvas. Proceed slowly and carefully to your release site!

Other than visual confirmation, other obvious indications that there is a snake around are the small holes they leave in your yard and their discarded skins. These signs indicate that the snake has found a good food source around your home so check the area for signs of frogs, rats, and other such rodents. By ridding your yard of these, you will "run" the snake off.

Usually owls tend to steer clear of humans. They will sometimes resort to nesting in attics which can cause unpleasant odors and strange

Ladner to be enshrined in JCJC Athletic Hall of Fame

BY JOSEPH W. GEX, II
STAFF WRITER

When former St. Stanislaus College head basketball coach Jay Ladner was first contacted by JCJC athletic director Joel Cain about six weeks ago, he initially thought it was just a congratulatory call for him returning home to Hattiesburg and the University of Southern Mississippi.

Ladner was correct in the congratulatory part but for a completely different reason and one that left Ladner speechless.

Cain called Ladner to congratulate him on being selected for induction in the Jones County Junior College Athletic Hall of Fame.

Ladner recalled, "I was simply floored and left speechless when Joel Cain called to inform me of this extremely humbling honor. If it was not for Jones County Junior College, Dr. Jesse Smith and Coach Katie Harrington taking a chance on me, I would not be in the position that I am in right now. They gave me my first college coaching job."

Ladner and his connection to Hancock County is long and storied.

He is the oldest son of Peggy and Larry Ladner of Kiln. The elder Ladner is a legend in basketball in his own right being the very first All-State selection in the sport in Hancock County history.

The older Ladner went to SSC for a short period of time before he finished at Kiln High School. He later went on to a storied Hall of Fame career at PRCC and Louisiana College before returning home to lead Picayune Memorial High School for 11 years winning close to 300 games and later becoming the first professor in the country's first Department of Coaching and Sports Administration at USM.

The younger Ladner was born in Picayune and went to Hattiesburg when his father took the job at USM.

Jay would later become a three-sport star at Oak Grove High School before signing to play basketball for M.K. Turk at USM. He would later be a member of the 1987 NIT championship team.

After graduating from USM in 1988, the younger Ladner embarked on a pharmaceutical career. About three years into the job, fate had a new direction for Ladner. One of his father's former players, Jerry Spell, was athletic director at SSC. One thing led to another and Ladner was offered the head basketball job at the all-boys school.

Against many people's better judgement, Ladner took the job and, shall we say, the rest is history.

Ladner went on to lead SSC for 20 years (1991-2011) winning over 500 games in the high school ranks.

He led SSC to 10 state tournaments and the 2011 Class 4A state title before spending a brief one year stop at his alma mater, Oak Grove.

JCJC took the chance on Ladner late in June 2012 after rosters had already been finalized.

Ladner recalled, "When I got the call from JCJC, we had already finished our summer program at Oak Grove and in was getting ready to go work the Dixie Basketball Camp. We were fortunate to get to JCJC and have a great first season that allowed us to recruit well for our second year. What many don't realize is that Mississippi has the best junior college system in the nation and that is not relegated to just athletics. We rank extremely high in academics, student services and across the board. But, in an effort to provide these opportunities to Mississippi students, our basketball roster must have 12 players from Mississippi out of the 15 player limit. Other states do not have that rule. So, we knew going into that second year, we had to find the best that Mississippi had to offer, as well as, the best three out of state players we could find. Fortunately, our coaching connections across the state allowed us to recruit Mississippi well and we landed three players from New York City."

Now, let that sink in coming from New York City to Ellisville, Mississippi.

Ladner always had the mentality of winning it all at every stop he made, including JCJC. He added, "We always had the mentality to be the best at every stop we have made. That was no different at JCJC. But having said that, we knew that we needed to recruit at a high level, change the thought process, and play as a team to achieve that."

In just his second year at JCJC, Ladner and his squad accomplished just that. His Bobcats set a school record for wins with a 28-5 record and became the lowest seeded team to win a NJCAA basketball title in any division. And, they won the national title by winning five games in five days which was a first in tournament history.

The Bobcats upset top-seeded Indian Hills Community College of Iowa 87-77. JCJC was the #11-seed in the tournament and also defeated #22 Highland Community College (81-79), #6 Hill College (91-82, OT), #3 Chipola College (86-79), and #2 Vincennes College (76-63) en route to the title.

Ladner stated, "I have been blessed to have coached at five great places in my career beginning with St. Stanislaus College, and then, Oak Grove, Jones County Junior College, Southeastern Louisiana University and now The University of Southern Mississippi. Each place I have been has prepared me for the next stop. It all started in Hancock County with St. Stanislaus and the very special people and support on the Gulf Coast. It is where I call home and it always will be. This honor is very humbling but it would not be possible if I did not have that first stop in Hancock County. The community there is very special to me and I graciously thank them for all their support."

Ladner has a 511-189 record in high school, a 45-13 mark in junior college and 66 wins at SELA with the 2018 regular season title and a NIT berth in five seasons.

Ladner is being inducted with former Bobcat football player Daryl L. Terrell and former Bobcat head baseball coach Christian Ostrander.

Terrell played with the Baltimore Ravens, New Orleans Saints, Jacksonville Jaguars and Washington Redskins from 1998-2005. Ostrander was head coach at JCJC for seven seasons winning MACJC state titles in 2011 and 2014, the Region 23 title in 2011 and led the Bobcats to a National runner-up spot in the 2011 NJCAA Division II World Series. He is currently the pitching coach at USM.

The induction ceremony is set for Thursday, September 12 on the Jones County Junior College campus

CASA to Host 3rd annual Touch a Truck Event for Hancock County Children

Remember the awe you once held for larger-than-life machines going about their seemingly impossible tasks? A fire truck racing down a street; thinking how fun a dump truck would be to operate; or if you would ever get to sit in the bucket of a tractor?

Make plans to join CASA on Saturday, October 19, 2019 at the Hancock County Government Annex, 854 Highway 90 in Bay St. Louis from 10am-2pm. It's absolutely FREE to participate!!!

What is the CASA of Hancock County's Touch a Truck?

CASA of Hancock County's Touch A Truck event gives local children and adults alike a chance to fulfill those childhood curiosities while learning and interacting with the businesses of the community. Touch A Truck is different than a car show. Kids can interact with not only the trucks, but with the "heroes" that drive and operate them.

They can hear the sirens, watch the tractor bucket move, and learn about the safety of the vehicles through fun and interactive games.

Participants will be able to contribute to a fun and educational day. CASA of Hancock County hopes to give back to our community that supports us so much by offering a fun, education, and FREE event for the kids of Hancock County.

If you have a vehicle you'd like to register or if you'd like to set up a booth and provide a kid friendly activity please contact CASA at 228.344.0419 or visit our website at casa-hancockcounty.org.

The Old Town Merchants Association (OTMA) and its members invite you to experience the Second Saturday Art Walk this Saturday, September 14. Also known as Second Saturday, the event has become a regional favorite and regularly draws visitors from New Orleans to Biloxi.

customers to come sit, relax, and enjoy their frozen treat and just be present and breathe. It is relaxing respite from the everyday, and Rhonda makes you feel as if you are in her home for a visit with a trusted friend. That atmosphere is truly a reflection of Rhonda's frame of mind. When we asked what she likes the most about running the business, she smiled and enthusiastically replied that she is doing what she does as a retiree therefore, everything is a matter of choosing to do what she loves everyday around the people she loves the most.

Approaching her business as a matter of love has paid off. Rhonda and family are proud to announce that they will be breaking ground on a new location in the near future.

Although they are in the early stages of planning, they will be building a new place directly across from the Purple Banana. They are looking forward to being closer to the water and welcoming people to a beautiful front porch where they can enjoy the beauty of Beach Boulevard in addition to a daiquiri.

In the meantime, Daiquiri Shak is located at 112 Court Street from 11 a.m. - 8 p.m. Sunday through Thursday and 11 a.m. - 11 p.m. on Friday and Saturday. Be sure and stop by on the 2nd Saturday of September (the 14th) to enjoy the live music. Maybe you can even put your creativity to the test and come up with a new and inventive flavor combination!

ANTIQUE MAISON SECOND STREET

Forget everything you thought you knew about antiquing and prepare for a true experience at Antique Maison on 2nd Street. It is a struggle to figure out a way to describe the place--simply calling it an antique store seems inadequate. Is it a gallery? A market? A bazaar? The answer is yes - it is all of the above, and then some.

Originally opened in 2006 by Sylvia and Ed Young, Antique Maison is a veritable smorgasbord of treasures. Shoppers should prepare themselves to see things that haven't crossed their mind in years and for the memories of that item to come rushing back. Vintage postcards, books, toys, tools, original arts and crafts, gloriously beautiful furniture from bygone eras, crystal, vintage handbags ($25 Dooney and Bourke, ladies?), jewelry, religious gifts, pre-seasoned cast iron (by a chef, no less), tools and vinyl are just a few of THOUSANDS of things to enjoy.

In speaking with the management team, Missy Geisel and Anne Mann, it is clear that love and hard work is what has made MARINA COTTAGE SOAP CO. IN OLD TOWN BAY ST. LOUIS, FOUNDED BY VANESSA MUELLER, RN, OFFERS NATURAL HANDCRAFTED SKINCARE PRODUCTS FOR PEOPLE WITH SENSITIVE SKIN.

Antique Maison such a success. They are extremely complimentary of each other, with one often crediting the other for things they've learned. One thing is for certain, though - they have the utmost respect for Ed and Sylvia, who have put all of their devotion into their businesses and to each other. We were not able to catch up with Ed and Sylvia for this article due to Sylvia's recent health issues. She has suffered multiple strokes over the course of a few months, so they've decided it would be best to close the Antique Maison location on Ullman Avenue as the Youngs adjust to the new normal. Meanwhile, Sylvia's health is improving, and cards and visitors are welcome.

Allow a minimum of an hour to go through Antique Maison, and pace yourself. Anne can give you an amazing tour, and can tell you about every artist and dealer at each of the 40 booths. It was clear from our walk-through that there is a piece of her heart in each booth and enjoys the environment as much as she does introducing it to others. It is truly worth a visit - you will learn something new and revisit the warmest, most beautiful memories from your past as you remember the last time you saw your grandmother's sewing tin or the old license plates nailed to the walls of your great uncle's garage. Every piece in every booth has been expertly curated and brought to Old Town Bay St. Louis for you to enjoy.

To experience the eclectic and nostalgic magic of Antique Maison, pay them a visit at 111 North Second Street. They are open 7 days a week from 10 - 5. Be sure and stop by during Second Saturday on September 14th and enjoy the music while you browse!

Research reveals that people are more absorbed and attentive when they read newspaper content.

No matter how The Sea Coast Echo® captures a reader's attention, we are remarkably successful at keeping it. An NRS survey says newspaper readers are more relaxed than TV viewers and radio listeners and less likely to be multi-screening. In fact, the 36 million who pick up a paper spend over an hour reading and don't multi-screen at all. Nothing works like The Echo works.

NOTICE AND PUBLIC EXPLANATION OF A PROPOSED ACTIVITY IN THE 100-YEAR FLOODPLAIN

To: All Interested Agencies, Groups, and Individuals
SUBJECT: Notice of intent to take action within the 100-year floodplain
This document gives notice that the Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission is proposing to conduct activities within the 100-year floodplain, as identified on Flood Insurance Rate Maps (FIRMs) for Hancock County, to facilitate the Stennis Airport Hangar Facility Completion Project. The purpose of the proposed activity is to provide construction of an airport hangar facility and other associated amenities for the Stennis Airport Hangar Facility Completion Project. The project site is located at Stennis International Airport in Kiln, Hancock County, Mississippi. It is located on the east side of Fred and Al Key Road, south of Texas Flat Road, east of Mississippi Highway 603, and south of the Jourdan River.
The Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission is requesting the use of U.S. Department of the Treasury Resources and Ecosystems Sustainability, Tourist Opportunities, and Revived Economies (RESTORE) Act entitlement funding for the referenced project. In deciding whether to fund the proposed project, U.S. Department of the Treasury is obligated to follow requirements set forth by Section 2(a)(4) of Executive Order 11988 for Floodplain Management. This Notice of Proposed Intent is being provided in fulfillment of the aforementioned Executive Order. The Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission has conducted an evaluation as required by Executive Order 11988 to determine the potential effect that its activity in the floodplain will have on the environment.
The proposed activity is intended to occur in Kiln, Hancock County, Mississippi, within the 100-year floodplain as determined from Flood Insurance Rate Map (FIRM) Community Panel 28045C0327D (dated October 16, 2009). Activities at that area would have minimal impacts on the floodplain beyond those that currently exist. The proposed hangar facility would be constructed above the base flood level in accordance with the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) FIRM using solid fill.
In response to the requirement for evaluating alternatives to building/mitigating projects in the floodplain (24 CFR 58.40(e), Ref. 40 CFR 1508.9), the alternatives considered included relocating the proposed activity to an alternate site and no action.

Alternate Site Alternative

Alternate site locations were not practicable because the objective of the project is to provide an additional hangar structure adjacent to the Stennis International Airport Terminal Building, which would be constructed at Stennis International Airport on land owned by the Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission. Stennis International Airport is a military airport in Kiln, Mississippi and serves as a training facility and international connection for military operations. Approximately 0.16% of the total area of Kiln is located within the 100-year floodplain, and all of the waterfront areas are in the 100-year floodplain. The current adjacent hangar (Hangar A7) is no longer adequate for the increasing volume of air traffic accessing the Stennis International Airport. Therefore, the alternate site alternative was rejected.

No Action Alternative

The adoption of the No Action alternative is a decision not to provide a hangar facility and other associated amenities for the Stennis Airport Hangar Facility Completion project, thereby languishing the growing need for military operations at the airport.
Proposed Action Alternative
The objective of the project is to provide construction of an airport hangar facility and other associated amenities for the Stennis Airport Hangar Facility Completion Project, which would be constructed at Stennis International Airport on land owned by the Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission. This notice is being submitted to the Mississippi Emergency Management Agency, Federal Emergency Management Agency, US Army Corps of Engineers, US Environmental Protection Agency and Mississippi Department of Environmental Quality.
